BRITISH NAVAL FORCES AUGMENTED

GENEROUS DONATION FOR POOR OF MACAO

Sir Robert Ho Tung Thanked By Dr. Barbosa

Sir Robert Ho Tung, who is an old friend of the Governor-Designate of Macao, Dr. Tamagnini Barbosa, tendered a tea party in honour of His Excellency at his palatial Peak residence, "The Falls," on Saturday, at which he and Lady Clara Ho Tung were the hosts. The Governor was accompanied by the Portuguese Consul, and the other guests were the officials from Macao and two old Portuguese residents of Hong Kong.

Group photographs of the party were taken in the garden, and after tea had been served the whole party adjourned to the sitting-room, where an informal toast was given.

His Excellency said:—Sir Robert and Lady Ho Tung,—I received at Singapore several letters from friends in Hong Kong and at Macao. All of them were extremely gratifying. I must not deny that the one from you, Sir Robert, gave me cause for special satisfaction. It revealed great generosity on your part, conveying to me besides words of welcome the evidence of how much you desired to keep in mind on the day of my arrival at Macao the poor of that colony, by offering for them so large a donation as the sum of $10,000. I assure you, Sir, that I will cause the distribution of this sum to be made, and in the course of that distribution I will not fail to make known to the beneficiaries the fact that the gift was one from a distinguished citizen of the neighbouring colony, who is so well known in these parts and who has a heart so charitable and generous as your own.

In thanking you for this splendid gift I raise my glass to you for your better health, a speedy and complete recovery, and for the happiness of your distinguished family. The Governor's brief speech was received with loud applause. Sir Robert being congratulated by the party present for his thoughtful and generous gift to the poor of Macao.

INSURGENTS STOP MORE SHIPS FOR BILBAO

ATTEMPT TO CUT OFF FOOD SUPPLIES

London, April 11. In connection with the departure of H.M.S. Hood from Gibraltar reportedly for the north coast of Spain, it was learned yesterday that the British cruiser Shropshire is being sent from Gibraltar to augment the British naval forces there which at present consist of four destroyers, Blanche, Brilliant, Brazen and Beagle operating from St. Jean de Luz.

Hendaye: It is learned that another British cargo steamer, the Seven Seas Trader, was stopped by an insurgent cruiser off Bilbao and prevented from entering the harbour. It is understood that after some parley the ship consented to return to a French port.

St. Jean de Luz: Another British cargo vessel, the Macgregor, has arrived here also bound for Bilbao with foodstuffs.—Reuter.

Gibraltar, April 10.

The battle-cruiser H.M.S. Hood, which is now here, will be leaving shortly for an unknown destination. Reuter was officially informed this evening that she has been ordered to proceed to sea to await instructions. The Naval authorities state that her departure has nothing to do with the recent cases of interference with British shipping off the Spanish coast.

H.M.S. Hood sailed for the west. It was learned from a very reliable source, and will proceed to north coast of Spain.—Reuter.

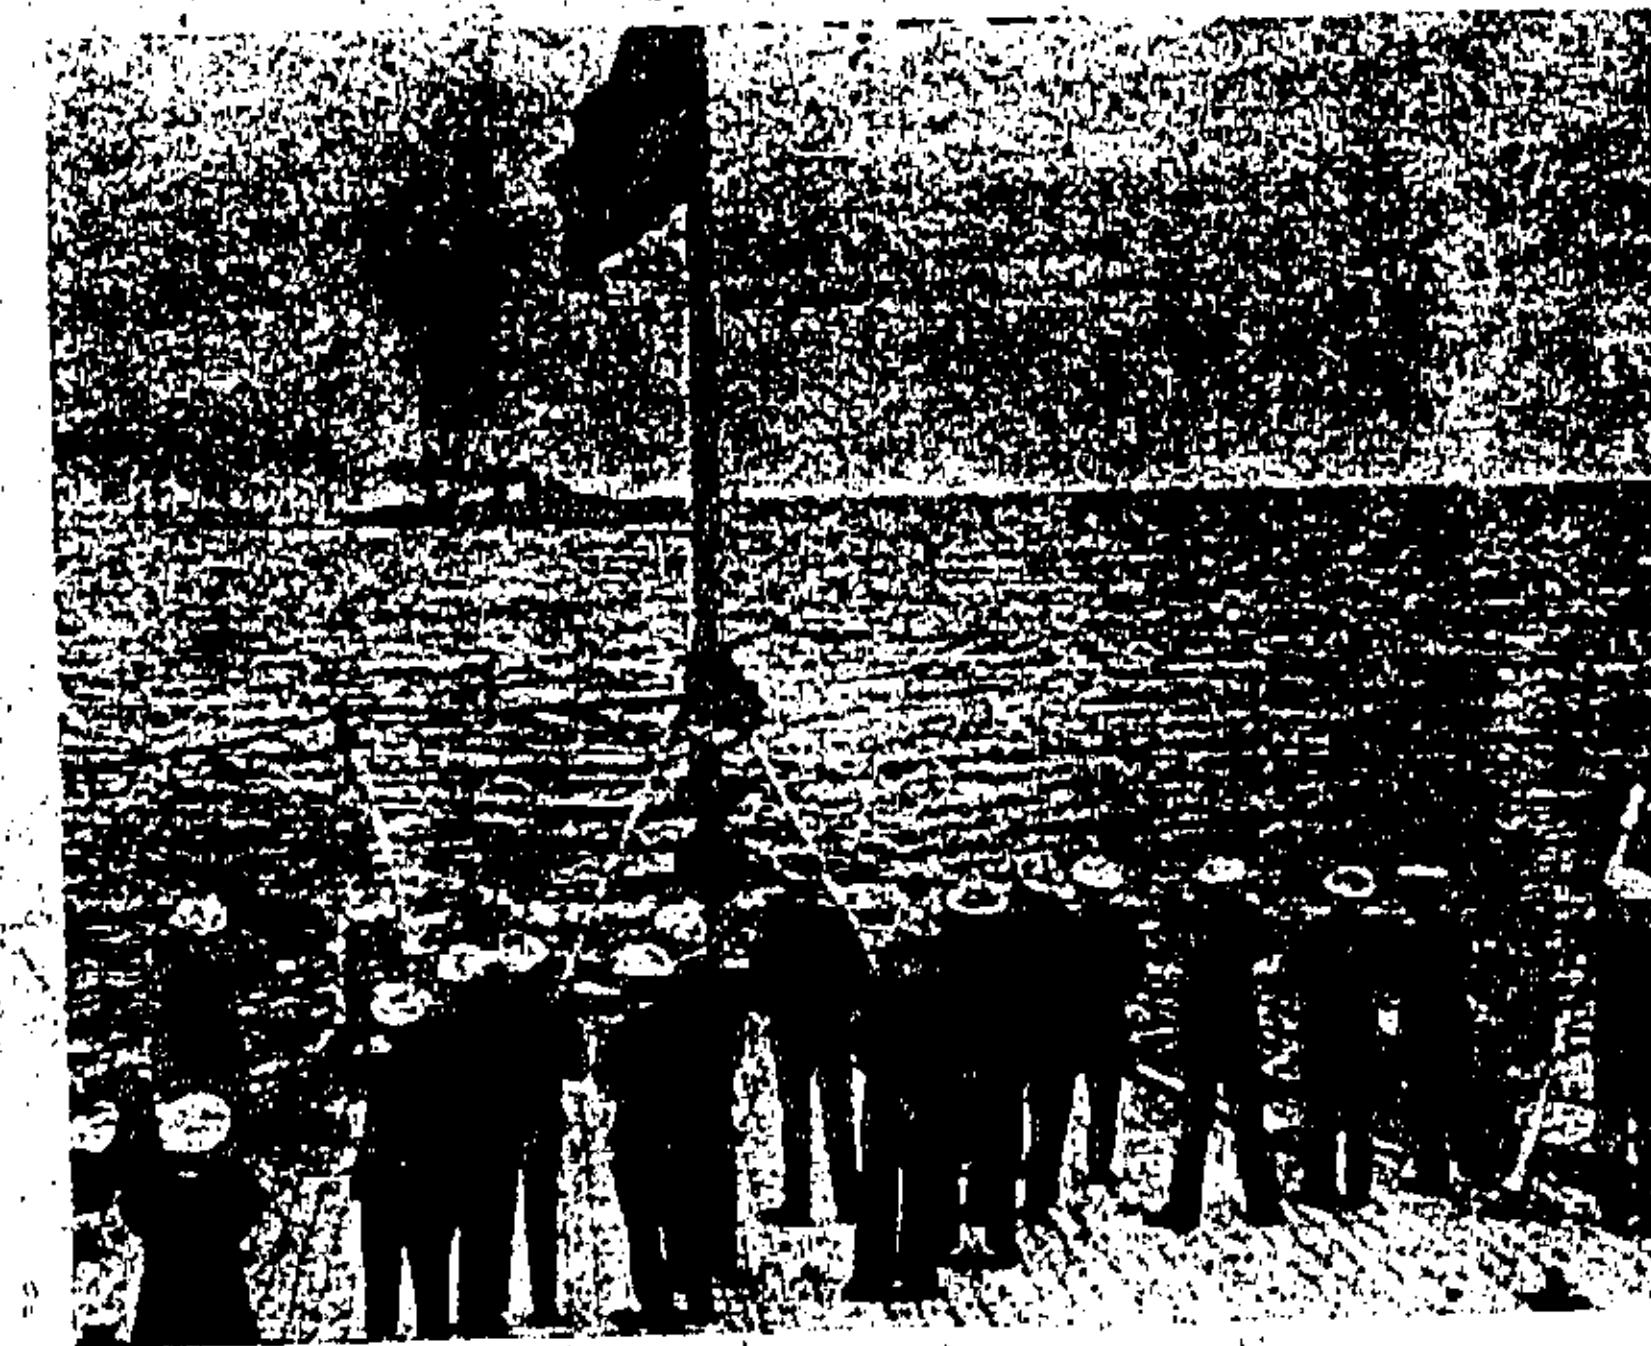

NEW SITUATION

London, April 10.

The British Government is now considering the position of the four British ships at St. Jean de Luz, bound for Bilbao. It is reported that they are carrying foodstuffs, but Bilbao is hotly beset and almost surrounded by the insurgents' land and sea forces.

A new situation has, therefore, arisen in regard to the British Government's adherence of the non-intervention agreement, because if the ships are carrying food, then the cargoes do not come within the scope of agreement. On the other hand, if the ships manage to make Bilbao, a party in the civil war receiving the cargo will apparently benefit from it. It is assumed that the four British ships asked for protection and will, meanwhile, remain in St. Jean de Luz until the British Government has decided what attitude to adopt.

The captain of the Hamsterley, one of the above ships, claims that he was officially informed early to-day that General Franco declares he will prevent foodships from entering Bilbao, "even at the risk of an incident with the British Navy."

The Rebel cruiser Almirante Cervera, passing astern of H.M.S. Rodney, in the Mediterranean.

The two other ships concerned are the Sara Stone and Mary Llewellyn.—Reuter.

GERMAN SHIPS IN SPANISH WATERS

Berlin, April 10.

Comprehensive instructions were issued yesterday to the captains of German merchantmen sailing in Spanish waters by the Reich Minister of Transport.

All German merchant ships, destined for Spanish ports, Morocco or the Balearic Islands, are obliged to take no board an inspecting official at one of the harbours designated for this purpose, and to permit the officer full inspection of the cargo and ship's papers.

Passengers will have to answer questions regarding their destination and their passports will have to be presented for inspection on demand.

A special pennant will be flown by German ships during the time the inspecting officer is on board.

German merchantmen passing through Spanish waters controlled by warships are to obey the orders of the commander-in-chief of the patrolling fleet should he designate a special route to be followed in passing through the zone.—Transocean News Service.

"DISFIGURING HONG KONG"

Further Pungent Criticism

CORRESPONDENT ASKS WHY GOVERNMENT DOES NOT ACT

There is no doubt that a great body of public opinion is definitely opposed to the attitude of Government in not using its powers, as itemised by the Colonial Secretary and reported in this newspaper on Friday, to restrict the indiscriminate plastering of the Colony with unsightly hoardings.

Investigations made by members of the reporting staff of "The Hong Kong Daily Press" clearly indicate that the commercial value of the great majority of the hoardings is vastly over-rated. We have already quoted the carefully considered opinions of leaders of this community on this matter, and to-day we quote more in the form of interviews. If any business leader engaged in marketing in Hong Kong came forward and gave proof that hoardings were, basically, of genuine commercial value commensurate with their cost, then, to an extent, much of our argument would be, ipso facto, void of cogency; but thus far not one single business man in Hong Kong has made any statement in favour of the commercial value of these hideous blotches on the landscape.

However, even if they possessed "pulling power," that would not be an excuse for Governmental lethargy, because restriction of number and censorship of tone should be imposed as has been done in Britain.

We publish to-day two interviews and two letters which clearly show what members of the public think about the matter.

"SHOULD NOT BE ALLOWED"

INDISCRIMINATE USE

Interviewed on this subject, MR. RICHARD SHIM, MANAGER OF THE UNDERWRITERS SAVINGS BANK AND ASIA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY said:—

"In an up-to-date city like Hong Kong hoardings should not be allowed. The city should not be disfigured at all. They have no value at all as advertising mediums. The Press is by far the most valuable advertising medium."

Adamant in his opinion that hoardings should not be allowed, MR. LI CHOR-CHI, PAST PRESIDENT OF THE KOWLOON RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION said:—

"I do not think these hoardings beautify the place, and I object to them as they are put indiscriminately everywhere. If these hoardings are put up in places where they do not interfere with the natural beauty of the place, they are all right."

Rumours that the Chinese ambassadors in Berlin, Rome and Moscow will be recalled are denied by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Foreign Minister Wang Chung-hui does not wish to make any changes at present.—Union News.

SUIYUAN RAID IMMINENT?

Mongol Irregulars
Again Active

Peiping, Apr. 11.

The number of Mongol irregulars in West Chahar has been increasing of late. It appears that the irregulars will attempt to raid Suiyuan before the gigantic defence there are completed.

General Fu Tso-yl, Chairman of the Suiyuan Provincial Government, who is visiting Peiping, stated in an interview to-day that his troops claimed no credit for the recent successes in repelling Mongol-Manchukuoan invasion of Suiyuan as it was in a nature of bandit suppression. National defence is a many-sided proposition, he added, and real work is required.

After staying here for a few more days, General Fu will return to Kwethun. His trip to Nanking is cancelled.—Union News.

ALL-NORTH CUP FINAL

Sunderland To Meet
Preston

London, April 10.

In an all-North cup final at Wembley on May 1, Preston, who only once before won the coveted trophy, in 1889, will meet Sunderland who have never won the trophy and only once before, in 1913, reached the final.

Both teams deserved their wins to-day in the semi-final round Sunderland giving the impression that they are the cleverer team. After being led 1-0 a few minutes from the start, they drew level by half-time. The attendance at their match with Millwall was 82,813 and gate receipts totalled £5,240.

West Bromwich, without the services of their captain, who is, incidentally also their centre-half, were three goals down in the first twenty minutes of their match with Preston and never recovered. The half-time score was 3-0.—Reuter.

CATHEDRAL SERMON

Christianity Is Not Hero Worship

Preaching in St. John's Cathedral yesterday morning the Rev. H. W. Baines taking as his text, "I am with you always," said, in part:—

Christianity is not hero worship. Christ never encouraged people to look back on Him with fond and proud recollections as though He could ever rightly be spoken of in the past tense as a has-been. He pointed away from Himself as they knew Him to God, the Eternal. "Worship the Father" were His words; and if you want to lay a charge at anybody for the thinking and theology which have come to surround, sometimes illuminating, sometimes hiding, the original figure it is at Christ Himself that you must make it. If you want to be loyal to Jesus you must let Him lead you on from Himself to the life in God which He came to give you. It is not loyalty to Jesus to keep your gaze fixed in mournful contemplation on the memory of the "Pa'e Gallilean. Christianity is the Gospel of God.

It is this that makes the stubborn struggle which the early Christians put up for what we now call the Catholic Faith heretic. We have cause to be grateful to them because they took Jesus at His word and would not accommodate Him among the ranks of the demi-gods and heroes. To them He was "Begotten of His Father before all worlds—God of God—Light of Light—Very God of Very God." They claimed Him as the original and had now returned to the Eternal bearing all the marks of His manhood with Him. Thus when during the great Forty Days the Disciples gathered together to break bread there began to develop in them the recognition of an "impossibility that had bowed its head compelling them to believe that because it was utterly impossible in nature, and yet absolutely certain in reality, it was rightly called supernatural."

DIFFERENT PROPOSITION

Life is a different proposition if Christ was not only one of the great pioneers of faith but also the One who authorises and vindicates all human faith, rooting in the Eternal reality of God all human effort after worship, and virtue and good society. And that is the Christian proclamation. Easter hymns are not, like Miriam's or Deborah's songs, paeans of praise for one incidental victory; they salute our God and Father who is always the God of Resurrection. The beloved Gospel story tells not of an episode but of the Eternal truth of God in a Reality which transcends time. The creed pins faith in a Christ timelessly begotten before all worlds which means that when we regard the historical Christ in His life on earth we are looking at the eternal Christ in God, out-pouring Himself in birth, risen life.

And this faith is not the compensating phantasy of men hampered by the teasing strokes of the ticking clock. It was built by the first Christians and is still by ourselves on the authority of Christ's own claims. For the words of Jesus of whom we think to-day as the Good Shepherd are more than the sweet musings of a beautiful character.

THE BRIDGE

"Hereafter ye shall see the Son of Man coming in the clouds of heaven" and "Take my yoke upon you and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly of heart." Are not these the words of one speaking as the bridge between heaven and earth. Who claims the full majesty of the Eternal at one moment and can dwell in gentleness in the heart of a child at the next?

Heaven and earth may pass away change and decay may be in all we see; but these words shall not fade. No mists of time or veils of translation can obscure the awful authority and strong aid of these comfortable words of Him who said, "Before Abraham was I am." "I have overcome the world." "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." "I am with you always."

Listen, last, to one final instance. Listen as Mary listened beside Lazarus' tomb and hear the words spoken like all His supreme sayings not so much broadcast as to one person's need, fitting heaven to earth, bringing the Eternal to be always with us in bereavement in failure, in frustra-

THREE YOUTHS IN TROUBLE

Sequel To Visit To Tailor's Shop

A visit was paid to a tailor's shop, owned by Wong Hon-ting, at No. 731, Nathan Road, by three youths, Bernard Xavier, William Yee and Gulam Homed, who entered the store and walked away with a roll of serge cloth and some ready-made clothing.

Pretending that they wanted to make some clothes, Xavier ordered four pairs of trousers, and gave a false name and address; while the Indian youth, who was not satisfied with the ready-made suits, went in to the fitting room to get measured and distracted the attention of Wong, who, after they had left, discovered that he had been victimised.

They were arrested later in the evening near a pawnshop, and were found guilty of the charges of larceny and receiving when they appeared before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday.

His Worship remanded the case for 48 hours on Det-Sgt Headridge's application for the production of finger-prints.

mon, in effort, in question; "I am the Resurrection and the Life."

Here, then, is the authority for the Christian Faith. Whether in worship or daily work He is with us always. He is with us in each phase and aspect of His historical life. Each act and word of Jesus carries spiritual significance; points beyond itself and opens for the believer a door upon Eternity. So that as we follow round the homely pictures of the Christian year and visit the states and acts of Christ, we come again and again to the meeting place of history and eternity.

PORTUGUESE COMPANY ANNUAL DINNER

Important Allotments In Colony Defence

MACAO GOVERNOR PRESENT

The annual dinner of the Portuguese Company of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps was held on Saturday night in the Club Lusitano and was well attended. The function, which also marked the tenth anniversary of the Company, was an unqualified success. The dinner was followed by a dance which was largely attended.

His Excellency the Governor-Designate of Macao, Senhor Artur Tamagnini de Sousa Barbosa, graced the dinner with his presence.

In the course of a speech, Lieut-Col. R. C. B. Anderson, Commandant of the H.K.V.D.C., pointed out the important tasks that had been allotted to the Portuguese Company in the defence of the Colony.

Major S. Jarvis, M.C., Commanding Officer of the Portuguese Company, was the principal host of the evening, and he was assisted by eight Portuguese staff officers and about 150 other ranks.

HE, Sir Andrew Caldecott and the G.O.C., Major-General Bartholomew sent greetings and apologies for their inability to be present.

The toasts of the King and the President of Portugal were duly honoured.

MAJOR JARVIS'S SPEECH

Following dinner, Major Jarvis, addressing the gathering, referred to the history of the Portuguese Company and said that the unit had made for itself a name in the Corps for keenness and efficiency in its work and proficiency in sporting and social activities. One person whose active support made a great deal of difference in the early and more difficult days—His Excellency Dr. Barbosa, Governor of Macao, has honoured us with his presence to-night. Dr. Barbosa made it quite clear that he for one was not in agreement with those who thought it wrong for a Portuguese to take his place in the defence of the Colony that has given him and his family a secure home, in the building up of which his community has taken such a great part and in which it has so much at stake.

This is the first occasion on which we have had the pleasure of Dr. Barbosa's company at our annual dinner and I take this opportunity of welcoming him among us and of thanking him in person.

Another gentleman I must mention is Colonel Harrison who, unfortunately, is shortly leaving Hong Kong. In spite of the vast amount of work he has had to do in making Hong Kong a place fit for soldiers to fight in, he has always found the time to help us with even the least of our difficulties. His general presence has graced many of our gatherings and in our work his aptitude for serving up a pill liberally coated with sugar but nevertheless purgative in action, has contributed greatly to the improvement in efficiency of the last few years.

NEW COMMANDANT

I wish, too, to take the opportunity of expressing to Col. Anderson, the Corps Infantry's pleasure at his appointment as Commandant and their congratulations upon his promotion. I am certain his predecessors in command will agree with me when I say that a regular Commandant is a necessity to the Corps' efficiency and that the authorities could hardly have made a happier choice.

On the subject of recruiting, Major-Jarvis said that there must be many youngsters who could join the active ranks and many old men who would be useful in the anti-aircraft defences.

"Another factor we must bear in mind is our officers; we must look for the future officers of this unit to those who are not only capable from the point of view of education but also whose position in life will enable them to support the duties and responsibilities of commissioned rank. There are quite a number of young Portuguese of this type who have not joined the Corps. We are a very happy band—we have very interesting training and I am certain that any lad with backbone would enjoy and learn a great deal by joining. I therefore appeal to the Portuguese community to make this Coronation Year a bumper year for recruiting. (Applause).

TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Lieut.-Col. Anderson congratulated the Portuguese Company of the H.K.V.D.C. on their 10th Anniversary of service in this Corps and on their past achievements, and in warm terms, thanked Major Jarvis for the loyal co-operation and able support he had at all times given him.

IMPORTANT TASKS

The Military Authorities have entrusted to B Company one of the most important tasks in the defence of the Colony—its Anti-Aircraft Defence. The carrying out of this task requires the highest degree of skill and this can only be acquired by constant practice.

"A Company has been entrusted with a task no less important, that involves more than an annual trip to the Peak School and thence to the Gaps.

Some of you may think that my expectations are too sanguine and that I am calling on you to perform duties in excess of those you promised to perform when you joined the Corps. Should this be so, you must put it down to my keenness to maintain the efficiency of the Corps and the efficiency of your unit and because I have been here long enough to admire the Volunteer, to appreciate his services and to realise that there is nothing he will not do if the necessity for it is put plainly before him.

The toast of "Our Guests" was proposed by Capt. J. S. Rodrigues.

CONSUL'S SPEECH

The Portuguese Consul said in part:—

Principally speaking on behalf of the Governor, I thank you for your kind welcome of His Excellency the Governor of Macao, who has honoured us with his presence to-night.

If no other reason could arouse my sympathy for the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps, it is sufficient to remember that there is kept in its traditions the name of the Portuguese Company, and, more than this, because they voluntarily forego their personal comforts, all in favour of the welfare of Hong Kong, which is so closely bound with Macao, and which offers such good hospitality to the Portuguese community here.

When a man accompanies another in his toils, sufferings, troubles, pleasures and joys, they become friends and, in the same way, friendship is built up, grows and endures between communities. That is the reason why a Portuguese in Hong Kong is not a foreigner, but a member of a family, so to speak, that is the reason why I entertain a great sentiment of gratitude at being in Hong Kong, where I have found a second home. (Applause).

Other speakers of the evening were Colonel Harrison, Brigadier Bisset, and Col. Irwin. Col. Harrison is a most popular official with the Portuguese Company. His good-humoured advice on Corps efficiency and the value of the Portuguese unit were received with loud and prolonged applause.

The dance that followed the dinner was very largely attended and opinions were unanimous that the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Portuguese Company was a conspicuous success.

"Since taking Kalzana my headaches vanished My NERVES are much STEADIER than they were before"

writes Mr. N. L. Cape Town, S.A.

Kalzana is a remarkable food containing no drugs whatsoever.

In hot countries one's diet and the extent to which one perspires tend to decrease the mineral contents of the body. Many complaints such as irritability, high blood pressure, dizziness, acidity, which are so often ascribed to "the climate" are due largely to this loss of minerals.

When you do not feel as well as you should, start taking Kalzana tablets. They will soon put you right.

DIVINE WIND

Historic Flight
To Croydon

London, Apr. 9.
The Divine Wind, Japanese-built goodwill monoplane, sent by the Asahi newspaper chain with greetings to His Majesty the King
on the occasion of his Coronation, has made flight history. The fast red machine reached Croydon from Tokyo in 94 hours 18 minutes' total elapsed time. The airmen had set 100 hours as their goal.

Enormous excitement was aroused in Britain by the exploit of the Japanese fliers, Pilot Masaki
Unuma 25, and his companion, K.
Tsukagoshi, radio-mechanic-relief pilot. It was evidenced by the huge crowd which gathered to welcome the airmen from the other side of the world.

The Japanese Ambassador and prominent British airmen were at Croydon Airport to welcome the plane and nearly the whole of London's not inconsiderable Japanese colony assembled, waving the national flags.

Bouquets from various Japanese societies were presented to the airmen by a number of little girls and the airmen, who were obviously much elated, and equally obviously much fatigued, were literally garlanded with flowers.
Their only long rest, during their whirlwind dash in their little, red, single-engine monoplane was at Athens last night.

Immediately they arrived, a message was conveyed to them from the Under-Secretary for Air, congratulating them on "the splendid record they established."

Interviewed by Reuter, the airmen said the first day was the worst of their whole trip. Their chief trouble was encountered in crossing the mountains of Indo-China. The weather was not too good when they crossed India, they added.

WELCOME AT CROYDON

London, April 9.
Unuma and Tsukagoshi, the Japanese fliers who left Tokyo last Tuesday in the aeroplane Divine Wind, landed at Croydon at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon, having completed a flight of 10,000 miles in three days 22 hours, 10 minutes.

They were cheered by large crowd and greeted by the Japanese Ambassador, Lord Sempill, Commander Perrin of Royal Aero Club, and the Director of Overseas Aviation, who handed the aviators a message from the Under Secretary for Air in the absence of Lord Swinton.

Sir Philip Sassoon wrote: "It is pleasure to welcome you here on behalf of British Aviation and to congratulate you on the splendid record you have established. We all appreciate the friendly spirit in which you set out from Tokyo to visit us and are glad you have reached us safely and with great success."

Unuma and Tsukagoshi reached Le Bourget at 1.30 p.m. and in doing so nearly halved the previous record for the flight between Paris and Tokyo. Their flight will take a high place among the record-breaking long-distance journeys of recent years.

Flights from the Far East to Europe have been fewer than those in the reverse direction. In 1934,
C. J. Melrose flew 12,000 miles from Australia to England in 84 days, while in the same year a record for the England to Australia flight was established by Scott and the late Campbell Black at two days 22 hours, 58 minutes.

The Post Office has made arrangements for the Japanese fliers to broadcast to Japan from the Post Office International Telephone Exchange to-morrow afternoon.—Reuter.

MESSAGE OF GOODWILL

London, April 9.
"We conceive it a great honour
and privilege to present the sincerest congratulations to the great British Nation, our old ally, on that most auspicious occasion, the coming Coronation," declares the goodwill message from the Asahi Shimbun, addressed to the people of the British Nation and carried by the men who flew the Divine Wind from Tokyo to London in record-breaking time.

"Flying through the skies of the two continents of Asia and Europe, our two special air envoys bring you fresh from Japan the expression of that very warm friendship and goodwill we have always had with regard to British people."

"We are firmly convinced that the Fraternity of Wings which has always existed between us serves immensely to draw the two peoples together in the cause of friendship, thus creating an atmosphere of peace in the storms and thunder which rage over international rela-

MAY BE RAISED

Madrid, Apr. 10.
Encirclement of the insurgent forces which have held the University city sector, on the western outskirts of Madrid, for the past five months, is announced by General Maja, commander-in-chief of the Madrid defence forces.

In view of recent rumours that General Franco, the rebel leader, intended to call off the attack on Madrid and concentrate on subduing the provinces, it seems that the long siege of the capital may at last be raised.

Meanwhile speculation has been roused by announcement that warships are being moved by both Britain and Germany into Spanish waters. Explanation is that the move is connected with the control scheme. Britain has ordered H.M.S. Shropshire to north Spanish waters and Germany has sent two submarines to reinforce her naval contingent.

NO LONGER NEGLIGIBLE

London, April 10.
"Japan can no longer be regarded as negligible in the air," is the outstanding reaction to the amazing flight from Tokyo to London of the Divine Wind.

The flight, together with the goodwill message the airmen so dramatically delivered, to-day evoked a particularly warm and appreciative welcome in the British press.

The air correspondents of the London papers comment at length on the machine's remarkable qualities and the navigation skill of the pilot.

Reflecting the general tenor of the comment, the "Daily Telegraph," in a leading article on Japan's aviation triumph, says that no single event could more triumphantly symbolise the vast progress Japan is making between the nations of the world.

ENGINE OVERHAULED
"By this performance she has given a new demonstration of the remarkable capacity of her people to keep abreast of scientific development elsewhere."

"She can no longer be regarded as negligible in the air," the journal concludes.

The "Divine Wind" used Shell spirit throughout the flight.

The fliers expect to leave Croydon in the Divine Wind on Friday for a trip to Berlin, Belgium and France.

Their machine is being overhauled and being made ready for the flight at Croydon, where it is stated that the engine is in perfect condition.—Reuter.

"REUNION"

Suspense gives way to heart-tugs, pathos yields to hilarious laughter, and dramatic strife ulternates with charming romance in "Reunion." Twentieth Century-Fox's heart-warming screen story of the Country Doctor who summons his 3,000 "babies" back to him with all their grown-up tears and troubles and heart-pangs.
"Reunion" is showing at the Alhambra Theatre to-day.

In a story rich and real in romance and emotion, high-lighted
by the most uproarious comedy
the screen has seen in years, we follow the intertwining fortunes of the old doctor's "babies" as they come back to share their joys and tears with the man who brought them into the world.
Surprise follows dramatic surprise
as romantic secrets are revealed and tangled lives are set straight.

SONS O' GUNS

For a rather remarkable reason,
old-timers around movie studios
think of musical numbers in pictures as resembling the slapstick comedies of silent film days.

A typical of the contrast is seen in Joe E. Brown's latest Warner Bros. film "Sons O' Guns," now showing at the King's Theatre. Although based on a Broadway musical staged by Bobby Connolly, who also directed the musical numbers of the film, a full-length movie comedy of hilarious world war adventures, directed by Lloyd Bacon, was completed before Connolly took over the megaphone.

Others in the cast include Eric Blone, Craig Reynolds, Joseph King,
Robert Barrat and G. P. Huntley,
Jr. The screen play is by Jerry Wald and Julius J. Epstein, based on the play by Fred Thompson and Jack Donaghy. New music and lyrics are by Warren and Dublin.

"THE PLOUGH AND THE STARS"

"The Plough and The Stars," screen drama of the Irish "uprising" of 1916 which has its run at the Queen's Theatre to-day, with Barbara Stanwyck starred, is one of the fine achievements of Hollywood's picture makers. The compelling power of its story, which is presented only as a work
of fiction, brilliance of its performance, richness of production and beauty of photography are high tribute to all concerned with its filming.

Dramatizing the effect of the street fighting on the under-crust of Dublin, the story focuses most sharply on a young combatant and his wife, whose lives and love are tortured and almost destroyed in the ordeal.

The emotional force which Barbara Stanwyck and Preston Foster, who is featured in support, pack
into the tense passages, the beauty of their romantic scenes, make their performances in this screen version of Sean O'Casey's Irish play master-piece stand out as the greatest of their respective careers.

"TARZAN ESCAPES"

Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan are now at the Majestic Theatre, reunited in their latest romance of the jungle,
"Tarzan Escapes," thrilling adventure drama of the king of the wilderness and his bride from the civilized world.

Thrills galore surround the love idyl—the adventure of the giant vampire bats, the quicksand mire of death, the stampede of elephants routing savages, the river of crocodiles, amazing swings across gorges and chasms, and other concentrated excitement.

It is for the usual four voices with

KING LEOPOLD ENTERS INTO POLITICS!

Brussels, April 10.
The importance attached to the forthcoming by-election between the premier, M. Paul van Zeeland, and the Rexist leader, M. Leon Degrelle, is emphasized by the open entry into the dispute of King Leopold himself.

As is the case with the British monarchy, the King of the Belgians does not play too prominent a part in national politics, and this departure from usual practice has caused a sensation.

King Leopold yesterday issued a statement which virtually signified that he is strongly opposed to the Rexist movement.

He repudiates assertions and claims made by M. Degrelle and aligns himself in support of the Premier.

A similar statement was issued yesterday by the Roman Catholic Church, indicating that, in spite of the fierce propaganda, with which he has been deluging the Belgian voters for weeks past, and the support of the Communists for
M. van Zeeland, M. Degrelle's hopes of a triumph are practically ruled out.—

ACTIVITY ON ALL FRONTS

Attack On Madrid

Hendaye, Apr. 9.

There was intense activity on all fronts and on the sea throughout Friday. National troops composed of Moors and Phalangists continued to advance on Durango and captured the village Arrazola. Nationalist artillery took the road connecting Durango with Bilbao under fire, thus preventing the enemy from bringing up munitions and other supplies. Franco's troops shelled the coastal road running from Lequeito to Santander whilst his airplanes concentrated their activity on an attack upon Orduna, where Basques attempted to remuster their forces.

Further details are now available about the surprise attack upon Madrid which the nationalist launched on Thursday night. The fighting lasted all night and the Nationalist claim to have won ground. A later report from Madrid however states that the republicans attacked on Friday at 5 p.m. and advanced to an extent of 400 yards into the enemy lines, capturing an old cemetery.

In the Pardo sector the republicans raided the enemy lines and penetrated so far as to considerably improve their positions. In the southwest part of the city they captured the military hospital building.

SINKING OF SHIP

With regard to the sinking of the "Andra" by the Nationalist cruiser "Almirante Cervera" it is now known that the crew consisting of 17 Dutchmen and 6 Poles had been taken aboard the "Almirante Cervera". The "Andra" had sailed from "Gyndia" to Holland with a cargo of tanks, and had succeeded in reaching Bilbao. There were also automobiles and foodstuffs on board. In Bilbao it took aboard iron ore for Cardiff, but was sunk by the Spanish cruiser shortly after leaving port. The Basque Government has called up several new classes of conscripts for immediate service against the Nationalists.

The Valencia Government has authorised its London representative to call upon all those Spaniards living abroad, belonging to the 1932 and 1936 classes to return to Spain immediately for military service.

SOLUTION TO VIENNESE MYSTERY?

Deaths Of Crown Prince And Empress Recalled

Vienna, April 10.

A 48-year-old mystery, involving two of the most famous figures in European Royalty at the end of the last century, has been revived in Vienna.

The mystery concerns the deaths, in tragic and mysterious circumstances, of the Crown Prince Rudolf, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and the Empress Elizabeth, wife of Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria.

For years an atmosphere of complete and baffling mystery has surrounded the deaths of these two prominent members of the Hapsburg family.

Prince Rudolf was one of the most romantic figures of his day. He was found dead in 1881 at his lodge at Mayerling, near Vienna, together with Countess Vecsera, a member of the Austro-Hungarian aristocracy famed for her beauty.

Ugly rumours, circulated after the discovery of the bodies, some reports stating that the heads of the victims had been battered in with a silver candlestick, which was found covered with blood in the hunting lodge.

Prince Rudolf had married, eight years earlier, Princess Stephanie, daughter of King Leopold of Belgium, but their married life was not a happy one.

Now, a solution of the two mysteries, which have never ceased to grip the imagination of Austrians and Hungarians, is believed to lie in a packet of private letters belonging to the Empress and other documents.

The letters, sealed in a lead casket, have been handed to the Supreme Court at Brunn, where they will remain unopened till 1950.

They were reputed to have been found in a secret drawer in the Empress' writing table by the Emperor Franz Joseph a few days after his wife's death.

He gave them to Prince Liechtenstein, the German Ambassador, with the request that they should be preserved but not published, since they contained sensational information relating to the two murders.

The Prince sealed the letters in the casket and threw the key into the Danube.

Now he has died and the Supreme Court at Brunn has taken the casket in safe-keeping until 1950, when it will be turned over to the Vienna Academy of Science for opening.

The letters are believed to reveal hitherto unpublished facts concerning the crimes, and the probable reason for withholding of publication is that many of the main actors in the dramas are still living.

Duke Of Windsor's Plans For Wedding

London, April 10.

It is understood in quarters closely connected with the Duke of Windsor that he has definitely decided to marry Mrs. Simpson in France and not in Austria, as previously reported.

May 31 is named as the date when the marriage will take place, this having been fixed owing to the Duke's desire that the wedding does not interfere with, or distract from, the Coronation celebrations in London.

Some reports, however, state that the marriage will be solemnised only ten days after the actual Coronation, namely, on May 22.

It is not yet known when the Duke of Windsor will leave Austria for France but it is thought he will not do so till the last moment.

At present the Duke is staying in a secluded villa at Appesbach, a small village between St. Wolfgang and Strobl, in the Upper Austrian lake district.

He is not expected to leave the villa, where he has as his only companion Sir Godfrey Thomas, until the day previous to the wedding, which will take place at De-cande Castle, near Tours, where Mrs. Simpson is now staying.

The Duke has had many offers of castles from friends all over Europe for his honeymoon, but it is understood he has decided to spend it in the Austrian Alps, where he feels most at home.

It is understood that he has leased the castle of Count Paul Munster, which stands in an isolated position high up in the mountains on the Austro-Italian frontier in Carinthia.

Here the Duke will be able to enjoy to the full his well-known love of skiing and other winter sports, and the remoteness of the castle will enable the honeymoon couple to escape publicity.

In the best of health, the Duke is living a quiet life in his secluded villa.

With Sir Godfrey Thomas as practically his sole companion, he goes for long walks, golfs, skis or skates. He is gradually dispensing with the large bodyguard of detectives which always attended him when he was living at Castle Enzesfeld, and now has only two or three attendants.

As at Enzesfeld, he takes no part in the night life of the district and in the evening sits in his bedroom typing letters to his friends.

KING WHO REIGNED 3,000 YEARS AGO

Letters And Accounts
Deciphered

The archives of a long-dead sovereign, King Zimrelin, who reigned in Assyria more than 3,000 years before the Christian era, have been deciphered by a French scholar, M. Dossin.

A number of tablets were discovered by the famous archaeologist, M. Parrot, at Tell-Hariri, the site of the ancient city of Mari. The cuneiform script on the tablets said M. Dossin in a report of his discoveries read before the Academy of Inscriptions, proved to be the King's correspondence. Letters to other rulers, court officials and ambassadors, ancient accounts and business contracts can now be read by scholars. This new knowledge will enable a living picture to be drawn of life in Assyria over 3,000 years ago.

HITLER YOUTH MOVEMENT

Unique Film At Central Theatre

A most unique series of German newsreels were shown at the Central Theatre yesterday morning when the dynamic revelation of the Hitler Movement engraved in the hearts of the audience a never-to-be-forgotten memory of the patriotism and peaceful contentment of the German people as shown at the National Socialist Party's Rally at Nuremberg.

Not the least striking part of this newsreel was the review of the Hitler Youth, in the course of which Hitler emphasized to the thousands of German youths, including those called home from foreign countries, that in their hands lie the destinies of Germany to-day. His intelligent foresight of the progress and patriotic outlook for the welfare of his country won the appreciation of the audience.

In addition to this the opening of public buildings, bridges and roads, including the erection of the Berlin Olympic Stadium, showing the general development of modern Germany, and the exhibition at the museum in Munich were items of much interest.

Although the newsreel was made to serve political purposes, to be used as a medium through which the German people may have a better understanding of the unity of Germany, under the guidance of Herr Hitler who belongs to the German people and to whom the German nation belongs, yet it has all the ingredients of a first class newsreel, holding audiences spell-bound by its intense truth and educational value.

FELLOWSHIP MEETING

A very pleasant meeting was held at St. Paul's Church Hall last night by the Chinese Christian Fellowship, during which the Rev. C. B. R. Sargent, Headmaster of the Diocesan Boys' School, gave an inspiring address on "The Easter Message".

His endeavour to cover his guilt with a pack of lies, led him to an additional fine of $10 with an alternative of one month's imprisonment when Chan Tak, 17, unemployed, was charged with the theft of $1.98 from the person of a student, Cheung Ka-wong, aged 15, before Mr. Himsworth at the Kowloon Magistracy last Saturday.

Ignorant of the fact that he was under keen observation of a Chinese detective, Chan extracted the money from complainant's pocket while he was watching a side-show at Public Square Street on Friday. He was pursued and arrested by the detective in Shanghai Street.

GUNS AND SIZE OF SHIPS

At any other time the report that Japan will not agree to limit the guns on capital ships to 14-inch would have caused a fine stir all over the world, but our sensibilities are blunted by the gigantic figures of arms programmes.

If there is to be, as maybe there is, a race in the size of guns and of battleships, well, what is another race or two when we have enough already to make a whole athletic meeting? The principal idea of the British Admiralty at the last naval conference was to secure a "qualitative" limitation; in particular to limit guns to 14-inch and thereby capital ships to 35,000 tons, the present maximum size.

This seemed a poor result until one remembered that in the days before the Washington Treaty of 1922 the chief naval Powers were heading firmly towards ships of 50,000 tons—our own Hood, completed in 1920, is 42,000 tons, and Sir George Thurston, the well-known naval architect, then thought that a ship of 57,000 tons, mounting eight 18-inch guns, was a likely limit to size. The cable we published on Friday indicates that might be the Russian plan.

From 1922 to the end of 1936 the limit remained at 35,000 tons, and it was in order to keep it there that the last conference agreed that the guns should remain at 14-inch.

Even if Japan, who walked out of the conference, refuses to accept that limit she may not in practice mount bigger guns, but if she does what will the other Powers do?

The proportion of tonnage that has nowadays to be devoted to protection against mines, torpedoes, and bombs has recently increased so much that, according to many naval authorities, 16-inch guns cannot be mounted in a ship of 35,000 tons.

It is at any rate probable that the adoption of 16-inch guns—and the United States is expected to adopt them—will mean an increase in the size (and cost) of ships. Sir Samuel Hoare stated last month, so far as concerns our ships, which are to be laid down this year, we shall make no increase in size of gun; the reason is that all the European Powers are contented with that limit.

But when Britain comes to the construction of that Eastern fleet which is now plainly foreshadowed, what shall we do if Japan has meanwhile gone in for 16-inch guns and bigger battleships?

FRENCH TECHNICAL
BOOKS FOR CHINA

Canton, Apr. 11.

The French Government has allocated a large number of technical books written by distinguished French authors to be presented to the National Sun Yat-sen University here.

All the works were written during the past thirty years. They were distributed to various seats of learning in Europe. While in Paris, Dr. Kang Woo, acting dean of the Graduate School of the Sun Yat-sen University, was informed that an allocation would be made and indicated appreciation on behalf of the University to the French Government.

The gift books will arrive here before the summer holidays.

If Gossip We Must

(BY "PRUDENCE")

A social event of considerable importance took place on Saturday night, when the Portuguese Company of the H.K.V.D.C. gave their annual dance at the Club Lusitano, which was attended by more than two hundred well-known people.

Since the gossip-writer's chief duty seems to lie in the description of the pretty frocks she espies at the functions I fear I shall break all records when I begin my description by saying that the first thing which struck me on entering the ballroom was the great number of attractive looking well-groomed young men who filled the room. In fact it is quite a long time since I saw so many "good-looking" (as they say at the Flickers) in one short evening.

But the good looks were not confined to members of the stronger sex, for the ballroom was a veritable flower-garden of pretty girls and dresses of every delicate rainbow hue.

One of the first I noticed was Mrs. Leo d'Almada, junior, (wife of the new member of the Legislative Council) in a lovely dress of clear forget-me-not blue charmeuse, and Mrs. Baptista in primrose yellow and Mrs. Nunes in shaded violet silk with a bunch of violets at the shoulder. Mrs. Silva Netto was very smart in black which fell into folds of transparent gold spotted gauze. Mrs. Xavier had a charming gown of lilac taffeta, and Mrs. C. Botelho a very becoming dress of deep leaf-green.

Miss Gladys Amy caught my eye in a frilly dress of pale green, and Mrs. da Silva looked sweet in black with a silver rose. Miss G. Ribeiro in mauve with butterfly sleeves was charming too, and Miss D. d'Aquino looked delightful in larkspur blue, while her sister Miss G. d'Aquino had a very pretty dress of lighter blue.

Miss Olga Ribeiro had an unusual dress of black daintily spotted with white, and with a band of white at the hem, and another unusual dress was worn by Miss C. Barreto. It was a transparent white tulle over white satin, with a shadow-pattern of transparent black, and was most fascinating.

Miss A. Barreto and Miss M. Barreto were "very easy on the eye" in twin-dresses of delicately patterned silk, one with sleekly moulded shoulders, and the other with small puffed sleeves. A coat of deep parma violet with a dress of pale hue was worn by the charming wife of Lt. Sequeira, and Mrs. Basto chose brown with a prettily ruched yoke falling gracefully over the shoulders.

The ballroom was beautiful decorated with the red, yellow and green of Portugal draped between large painted shields and the title of the Company in sparkling silver letters suspended from the roof. On a raised dais the band of Mickey's Melody-Makers discoursed sweet music in front of a backcloth representing tropical palms against a sky of mid-night blue, with silver stars and a full moon gleaming in the light shed by the crystal chandeliers.

(BY "TATLER")

A dance arranged by the Women's Auxiliary for the Hong Kong Society for the Protection of Children was held at the Peninsula Hotel on Friday evening and was a great success.

The cause is an admirable one and deserves the support which was so gratifyingly given.

His Excellency the Governor and Lady Caldecott brought a party and were met on their arrival by Mrs. Middleton Smith, the Chairman of the Women's Auxiliary, and by the Chairman and Directors of the Executive Committee.

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Smith, who came in the Government House party, brought their daughter. Both Mrs. and Miss Smith looked very flourishing after their home leave.

The walls on both the Rose Room and the Roof Garden were flanked with tables at which the guests sat between dances and at which supper was subsequently served. Mrs. Prior, who brought a party, was delightfully dressed in black embroidered chiffon. At Sir William Hornell's table we noticed Mrs. Brooke Short who was attractively dressed in brown. She was later successful in carrying off one of the prizes for the winning programme number. Mrs. McAvoy was with a large party and wore blue with long winged sleeves. Mrs. Dalziel, who is one of the best dressed people here, wore an unusual dress with striking sleeves. Mrs. Branson looked delightful in crisp white lace. We noticed the attractive Crapnell girls dancing enthusiastically.

Mrs. Eldon Potter looking distinguished in blue brought her daughter Patricia.

Cabaret items were interspersed among the dances. Mr. Erik Nelson introducing the performers in most impressive style.

Mr. Edwards gave an excellent performance on the Zylphone and was loudly encored. He was followed by Messrs. Tweed White and Smith in a variety turn. These clever entertainers are well known since the Hunt Ball and they simply brought the house down with vivid song and story.

Mr. George Goncharoff arranged a Manhattan Dance ensemble which was much appreciated as was the clever tap-dancing of Miss Yee and Miss Kew.

Miss Bice Bellairs, who made her initial appearance in Hong Kong, is a dancer of the first class. In her Hungarian number she displayed a technique and vivacity which is seldom seen and she received an enormous ovation. Delightful as was her spirited rendering of this Hungarian dance, her subsequent presentation of the mime of a Victorian Bicyclist showed even greater skill and versatility and she was recalled to repeat her admirable performance.

It is not often that a Charity Ball goes with quite such a swing as this one and the Promoters are to be congratulated on their success. That genial personality, Mr. Dimond was much in evidence and was no doubt of great service to the Committee.

MEDWAY DANCE

The Medway dance on Thursday evening nobly upheld the traditions of Naval hospitality. Lying well out in the middle of the harbour, the big ship looked like a brilliantly lit island, and the guests were carried across the harbour in a procession of ships' boats.

The great upper deck was cleared for dancing, and both there and on the lower deck ample provision had been made for sitting out and refreshments. An excellent band played, and as the weather was perfect everybody was keen to take advantage of what may well be one of the last opportunities for cool and comfortable dancing.

We noticed Lady Little looking ethereal and soignée dancing with Captain Barry who has only recently succeeded Captain Collett as Captain of the Medway. Mrs. Bradford was chatting to Mrs. Currie and that delightfully pretty person Mrs. Weldon was making a last appearance before sailing with her husband for leave in Japan.

Mrs. Brooke Short another lovely to Hong Kong society was dancing tirelessly. Mrs. Andrews wore white very successfully and brought her sister whose twenty first birthday party was fixed for the following evening. Mrs. Steele also wore white, a happy choice with her delightful blonde colouring. A visitor to Hong Kong recently commented to me on the number of beautiful young women to be seen about, and the Medway seemed to have gathered them all under her awning for this party.

Mr. Bickford was dancing with his sister who has recently come to the Colony. Mr. Ronald Clarke was in the pastel colours which suit her so well.

As the evening drew on the Olde English Bar became a popular resort. Three entirely authentic bar-ladies and two most efficient bar-tenders dispensed beer and bonhomie.

The programmes, designed by the Medway's most celebrated artist were amusing and original but the mermaids did seem unduly distressed by the Periscope.

Everyone agreed that the dance was entirely delightful and the Officers are to be congratulated on organising an "entertainment" which provided such obvious enjoyment to all their guests.

GANDHI SUGGESTS AN ARBITRATION TRIBUNAL Question Of Life And Death

Wardha, April 10. Mr. Gandhi, when interviewed by Reuter, suggested the appointment of an arbitration tribunal of three judges to decide whether it is competent for the government to give the assurance asked by the Congress Party as a condition of its taking office.

Mr. Gandhi proposed that one judge be appointed by Congress, another by the British Government and these two to have the power to appoint a third. He said he was ignorant of the Government of India Act and the Select Committee's report.

His advice to Congress in regard to the conditional acceptance of office was based on the opinion of the Congress lawyers that the Government could give the required assurance without infringement of the Act. He would also refer the question of legality of the present ministries to the proposed Tribunal.

If the Government accepted the proposal, he would advise Congress to do likewise. He wanted the right to prevail.

There was no question of diplomacy with India; it was a question of life and death. Office will be accepted only if progress towards India's goal is accepted.

Congress ministries, if they ever came into existence, would dig their own graves without the government's safeguards the moment they trampled on the rights of the minorities or restored injustice otherwise.

MR. EDEN'S TRIP TO BRUSSELS

London, April 10. Mr. Eden's trip to Brussels has nothing to do with the negotiation for a new Western Pact.

So declares "The Times," commenting on the forthcoming visit to the Belgian capital of the Foreign Secretary, scheduled for the end of April.

The visit, says the journal, is intended for a personal exchange of opinion with the Belgian Premier, M. van Zeeland, and the Foreign Minister, M. Spaak, on questions touching both countries.

The visit, of course, will have a natural connection with the conversations Mr. Eden recently had with the King of the Belgians in London.

A similar statement was also made yesterday by the Prime Minister of Victoria, Mr. A. A. Dunstan, who is in London for the Coronation.

SERIOUS UNREST IN INDIA

Six Officers Killed

New Delhi, April 10. Six British officers were killed and five wounded to-day in the sharpest engagement between British troops in India and revolting tribesmen for many years.

The clash, in which the British troops are believed to have been caught in an ambush, occurred in Waziristan, on the North-West Frontier, where tribesmen have been on the war-path for the past week or so.

In announcing the tragic results of the clash, an official communiqué states that the total unarmoured casualties are given in a despatch from the frontier as 25 killed and 40 wounded.

This is the first major engagement to have occurred in the present trouble on the border, and it follows the bombing of a large area of rebel territory by Royal Air Force machines.

Bombay, April 10. "There is nothing in common between us and we shall go along our paths resolutely with the will to end this bogus Act which was forced upon us."

So declared the President of the Congress Party, Pandit Nehru, in an interview with Reuter's correspondent yesterday in regard to the statement in the House of Commons on the Indian constitutional situation.

Pandit Nehru described the British Government's attitude as "patronising and hectoring" and said "we were told to take the Act or leave it."

Britain Well Prepared

London, April 10. Britain is well prepared to-day for practically all eventualities, should an international emergency arise.

Huge reserves of shells and guns have already been built up. The fastest and most efficient tank in the world will soon be at the disposal of the army in great numbers. A multitude of equipment for the manufacture of aeroplanes on an unprecedented scale are nearing big deliveries.

This summary of Britain's preparations were outlined last night in a speech by Sir Thomas Inskip, the Minister for Coordination of Defence, who said that he hoped they would be able to complete the five-year rearmament programme within the allotted period.

The programme was being carried out on the whole with great and noteworthy success.

A large reserve of shells was steadily accumulating and the Admiralty had nearly completed arrangements for acquiring the necessary supplies of fuel for the Navy.

Guns, air frames, air engines and a multitude of scientific apparatus were nearing big deliveries.

IN FINE TEMPER

Referring to a statement recently published in a London newspaper that there was scarcely more than a fortnight's supply of wheat and flour in the country, Sir Thomas said that there was no reason for supposing that there was not something like three months' supply.

Referring to the world outlook, he said that until the League of Nations became what they had dreamed, the British Empire held forth as the greatest pacifying force in the world to-day.

Britain had never been finer in temper or more unshaken in spirit than to-day. What gave peculiar strength to the Government in this grave time, in the history of the world was that the nation was substantially united.

A rosy picture of feats of arms by the insurgent forces is painted in a communiqué issued by rebel headquarters here to-day.

The main fighting took place on the Madrid front, where it is claimed many Republican attacks were repulsed with heavy losses.

The struggle in the Casa del Blanca sector is stated to have been particularly violent.

Republican losses are estimated by the insurgents at the high figure of 2,800.

They also claim that among the prisoners captured were Russians, Czechoslovakians and Asturian miners.

Following yesterday's action a lull has descended on the front and to-day was marked by nothing more energetic than occasional sniping.

The communiqué admits that Republican planes carried out a successful air raid on Valladolid on Friday.

DOCTOR'S REMARKABLE ESCAPES

'Broken' Neck Cured By 11,000 Volts Shock

A twenty-three-year-old resident medical officer at the District Hospital at Manly, Sydney's seaside suburb, has had two remarkable escapes from death in three days. He is now a patient in his own hospital.

The first accident fractured his neck. The second nearly electrocuted him, for 11,000 volts from the hospital's X-ray machine passed through his body, leaving him almost entirely unharmed—and "curing" his dislocated neck.

The doctor rammed another man with his scull while surf bathing, says Reuter, and the impact knocked his neck forward. He felt dazed and immediately left the surf with a very stiff neck, but went about his work as usual.

As the pain increased he had the neck X-rayed. Two days later he was assisting the radiologist to X-ray a child. By some means his head became caught between the current and the side of the steel machine, and 11,000 volts passed through his body.

He was thrown six feet across the room, falling unconscious to the floor. The coat was stripped of his back, and he received a bad burn across the forehead.

Late that day, when his own X-ray plate was developed, it was found that he had fractured and dislocated his neck in the surf. A subsequent X-ray, however, established that his narrow escape from electrocution, and the fall following it, pushed the dislocation back into position.

The doctor will, nevertheless, have to wear a plaster cast round his shoulders, neck and head for two months.

The declaration, however, was later rescinded for fear that if such a step was taken it would be regarded as a threat.

BEARDMORE STRIKE STILL UNSETTLED

London, April 10. There is still no sign of an end to the strike in the Beardmore works in Glasgow, where important work in connection with Britain's rearmament programme is being held up by the large-scale walk-out.

The striking engineers are disappointed by the fact that the Minister of Labour, Mr. Ernest Brown, is not intervening in the dispute.

Families of the strikers are drawing relief but the engineers themselves are not getting strike wages.

This is because the national executive of the Amalgamated Engineers Union refuses to recognise the strike.

CHINA REFORM ADVOCATE

Death Anniversary Observed

Canton, Apr. 11. An impressive service in memory of the tenth anniversary of the death of Mr. K'ang Yu-wei was held at Kan Chuan Lodge, Canton Friday noon. It was well attended by the philosopher's disciples, and younger admirers.

K'ang Yu-wei died ten years ago at Tsingtao after a rest of some years following his brilliant attempt at reform in 1898 when reactionism caused his failure and subsequent exile.

Contrary to popular conception, K'ang Yu-wei was a very progressive and modern-minded man. The belief is held by many that had he lived to see his reforms carried out, China would have followed the evolutionary path of progress, which in the opinion of his followers, is better for the country.

Similar service in Peking on the same day was held and sponsored by the philosopher's friend and admirer, Marshal Wu Pei-fu, and others.

THIRD EXTRA RACE MEETING

Mr. S.Y. Liang Injured
In Last Race
DAILY DOUBLE PAYS THREE
PUNTERS $1,828RANGER BEATS ABLE AMAZON TO PAY BIG DIVIDEND

Ideal weather favoured the Third Extra Race meeting held at Happy Valley on Saturday afternoon. A fairly large crowd attended and in the course of the afternoon, His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott, and Lady Caldecott, arrived. This was their last attendance at a race meeting in Hong Kong.

A splendid afternoon's racing was provided and among the jockeys the most successful was Mr. Benny Proulx who rode two winners, a second and a third, while Mr. Y.T. Fung had two wins in three outings, and Mr. Donald Black two wins and two third places. No owners registered more than one win.

The afternoon's sport was marred by a nasty accident in the last race when Mr. S. Y. Liang, one of the leading Chinese jockeys, was heavily thrown from Tabby Cat in the back straight near the Black Rock. Mr. Liang sustained serious injuries and was removed to the Hong Kong Sanatorium. On enquiries yesterday morning it was learned that Mr. Liang's condition was good.

Two three-figure dividends were paid, Amberley (Mr. Y.T. Fung) won the Deep Bay Handicap to pay punters $261.20 for a win and $82.20 for place, while Happy Venture (Mr. I.C. Harris) paid $97.30 for a win in the last race of the day. Mr. Harris secured his tenth victory at the Valley and thus graduated from the novice class. In the third race, the Callopo Handicap, Ranger (Mr. Donald Black) defeated Able Amazon to pay $111 win dividend.

A curious accident occurred in the Deep Bay Handicap. When the ponies were getting ready to start, Mr. S.Y. Liang, riding Soldier of China, got caught by the barrier and lost his mount. Soldier of China trotted back to the paddock but was taken to the starting point by a mafao and Mr. Liang returned to the saddle.

Mr. R.S.T. Bowden, a novice jockey, was thrown from Llan-gollen, just after the start of the fifth race. Mr. Bowden, however, was able to maintain a hold on the reins.

The combination of A Great Time and Amberley paid three successful punters $1,828.90 each in the daily double.

EIGHT GOALS IN JUNIOR SHIELD FINAL

SINGAPORE
SERVICES
DEFEATEDHong Kong Win
Rugby Match

The Hongkong Football Club defeated the Singapore Services in their rugby football encounter on the Club ground yesterday afternoon, by 19 points to 8.

A few minutes after the commencement of the game G. K. Chadwick of the Club, made a splendid run down the field to obtain the first try of the match, but Watson failed to convert. The Club's next try also came from Chadwick after a scrum near the Services goal, and Watson's this time made no mistake with the kick. Shortly after this the whistle went for half time.

On resumption B. O. M. Deane put the Club further ahead with a magnificent try, which was converted by Watson. A few minutes later Gnr. Barnaby of the Services from a scrum near the Club goal gathered the ball and went over the line for a try, which Evans failed to convert. A few minutes before the final whistle Millar went over the Club's line in between the goal posts, and Lt. Langley converted to give the Services five points. Land And Barnwell
The Stars

(BY ROY MURRAY)

Those who went to Sookunpoo yesterday with a goal scoring thirst were amply catered for. Apart from Engineers' feat of annexing the Junior Shield for the third successive year, the game proved a personal triumph for Land, who scored and amazingly clever hat-trick.

No blame for Rifles crushing defeat can be reflected on Barnwell who saved, miraculously, on frequent occasions.

The losers' attack was noticeably small in comparison with Engineers' hefty defenders, which ultimately reduced their ability as a goal producing machine. I thought Rifles backs were at fault when Howlett drew first blood for Engineers. Almost immediately Barnwell saved at full length from Thirist. Engineers' defence proved too robust for the diminutive Godney and Rice, Boyd alone causing them most anxiety. Darby added another goal for Engineers in the first half. The second period proved an amazing crop of goals. Land let loose a piledriver from 30 yards which left Barnwell helpless. The same player repeated this performance a minute later. Barnwell saved amazingly at this point. Land completed his hat-trick with another fine effort. Beal charged Barnwell into the net for the sixth goal while Godney notched a consolation point for Rifles. Darby completed the galaxy of goals by adding one more to Engineers' mammoth total.

The best forward on view was Fung King-cheong, who was quick to perceive that there was generally a large gap between the halves and forwards and taking up a position in this area he frequently gained possession and initiated the attacking movements which troubled the opposing defence.

The Fusiliers were best in defence. Keating shouldered the amount of work he was called upon to do, while Wheeler was very safe. Rowlands made several spectacular saves, a dive at the feet of the advancing Lee Wat-tong being a splendid achievement. Talbot's clever manoeuvres caused some worry to the South China defence, but there was no strength in his passing. No doubt efforts of Evans.

The goal scorers for South China were Lai Chul-wing who received a pass from Lee Wat-tong, and then advanced a few yards he gave Rowlands no chance of saving a low drive which he put all he had into. Lee Wat-tong secured the remaining goal through a misunderstanding between Wanklyn and Keating, and tapped the ball into an empty net.

At the conclusion of the match the teams lined up before the main stand, and after being introduced by Major C. M. Mannors, Mrs. N. L. Smith, wife of the Colonial Secretary, presented the Shield to Lee Wat-tong and Tam Kong-pak. Grindley receiving the runners-up trophy on behalf of the Fusiliers.

SHIELD FINAL

South China "A" Victory

FUSILIERS DEFEATED

South China "A" retained the Senior Shield for another season when they defeated the Royal Welch Fusiliers by two clear goals on the Club ground on Saturday afternoon.

There was nothing much for the Chinese team to do as they had everything their own way in the second half of the match, as a result of several players on the Fusiliers' team receiving injuries which affected their play considerably. Although Wanklyn made admirable efforts to check Lee Wat-tong, he managed to let the Chinese ace obtain his customary goal, as a result of not leaving the ball for Rowlands to receive. This was the only time that Lee succeeded in breaking through.

The best forward on view was Fung King-cheong, who was quick to perceive that there was generally a large gap between the halves and forwards and taking up a position in this area he frequently gained possession and initiated the attacking movements which troubled the opposing defence.

The Fusiliers were best in defence. Keating shouldered the amount of work he was called upon to do, while Wheeler was very safe. JAPANESE TRADERS
WARNED

Commerce To Be Controlled:
No Speculative Buying

Nagoya, Apr. 6.
Both incoming and outgoing commerce will have to be controlled if Japan's foreign trade is to be further developed. Mr. T. Yuki, Finance Minister, said here to-day
addressing a convention of Japanese Chambers of Commerce and Industry in the Pan-Pacific Exhibition grounds.

Trading the development of Japanese foreign trade, Mr. Yuki declared that its phenomenal growth was attributable to the good quality and the cheap price of Japan made products. These characteristics, however, would be insufficient to assure future expansion, he said. Reciprocal trade agreements would also be necessary.

The Finance Minister warned his audience against speculative buying, which, he said, tended to raise the price of commodities.

EXPORTING GOODS
TO CHINA

Shi Picul, Shi Mow, And The Shi Catty

Exporters of produce to China are at times involved in singular procedures and remarkable terminology. They are at present conning the new official weights and measures which have been adopted by the National Government of China. They are the shi picul, shi mow, and shi catty.

The shi picul is the unit in which all production estimates are given,
equalling 100,231 pounds or 50 kilograms; the shi mow, used in reporting acreage, is equal to 0.16474 acre or 6,8687 acres; and the shi catty, used for smaller weights, is equivalent to one-hundredth of a shi picul, or 1.0231 pounds. The shi picul must not be confused with the 133lb. picul, formerly used in the Chinese Maritime customs, and still in general use in Sino-foreign commerce throughout China.

WOOD FOR EVERYTHING!

From Fuel To Fodder

Berlin, April 10.

That Germany is using wood for every conceivable purpose, from the manufacture of drainpipes to fodder for animals, was revealed today by the Reich director of forestry.

Through special treatment, he said, wood was being successfully utilised for spouts and drainpipes
instead of copper, galvanized iron, tin or zinc.

Its durability was so great that it could even be used in automobile construction for parts which are subjected to constant wear.
Instead of importing foreign hardwoods for parquet flooring, composition blocks were being made of sawdust and chemicals.

SUGAR AND FERTILISERS

Considerable progress had been made in the utilisation of wood as a fuel for motive power in automobiles both in the form of wood gas and as benzine obtained through a process of hydrogenation.

Most interesting use of wood was the derivation from it of foodstuffs.

Sugar from wood was being used extensively in the preparation of food for farm animals and attempts were being made to produce fodder with a high albumin content from wood.

Refuse from the various processes could be utilised as ferti-liser, he revealed.

INDO-JAPANESE
CONFERENCE

Shipping Parley Fixed

New Delhi, April 10.

Official circles are maintaining extreme reticence regarding the forthcoming Indo-Japanese shipping conference.

In regard to coastal trading in India, by Japanese ships, it is pointed out that although Japanese ships have been free to ply between Indian ports, there has recently been a considerable increase in the number of Japanese ships which have traded from port to port.

It is further pointed out that most countries in the world reserve
the right of coastal trading to their own ships.

It is also understood that at least one British shipping line is somewhat perturbed regarding the growth of Japanese shipping activities in the Far East.

Japan Gold Export
To Continue

Not To Consider Requests
Based On Self-Profit

Uji Yamada, Miyu Pref., Apr. 1.
Japan will continue to export newly-mined gold to New York and London as long as that is regarded as necessary to keep the yen pegged at 1s. 2d.

This pledge was given to-day by the Finance Minister, Mr. T. Yuki, on his arrival here to report his appointment to the Treasury post to the Ise Shrine. He was accompanied by Mr. J. Tashima, Vice-Governor of the Bank of Japan.

He declined, however, to commit himself on the question of the termination of the Treasury's controversial decree of January 4, importers and speculators, in June.

"Although the exchange banks and various industrial groups have asked for the revision of the ordinance, we cannot entertain any requests that are based on a desire for self-profit.

"Thus, for instance, some groups asked us to relax the provisions of the ordinance to permit the financing of new cotton spinning companies in North China.

"While the Treasury is investigating the causes for the delay in granting the necessary licences to these applicants, it will reject applications indicating that the spinning companies concerned were seeking to profit themselves by the relaxation of the regulations."—Domei

BRITAIN'S NEW CRUISERS

Ships Of Great Power And Speed

H.M.S. Newcastle, the first of Britain's new cruisers of the Southampton class, was commissioned to full complement at Devonport recently. H.M.S. Southampton, the name ship of the class, arrived at Chatham from the builders, writes a Home correspondent.

These cruisers mark a departure in British cruiser construction. They are fast and exceptionally powerful ships, carrying a formidable anti-aircraft armament, and are provided with armour protection both on the sides and decks.

They are the first cruisers to be built for the British Navy with hangars for aircraft, although aircraft hangars have been fitted on two of the cruisers of the Kent class during recent reconstruction.

The Southampton class were authorised as a reply to the powerful cruisers being built abroad. Chief among these were the Japanese ships of the Mogami type and the American cruisers of the Savannah class.

As a result of the laying down of these powerful foreign ships, the British naval building programme for 1933 was altered. Originally it provided for cruisers of the 7,000-ton Leander class, but the altered programme instituted the 9,000-ton class, of which the Southampton and Newcastle are the first examples to enter the Service.

NOVEL APPEARANCE

In the Southampton cruisers there is a reversion to raking funnels and a tripod foremast, but the appearance of the ships is entirely novel and conveys an impression of great power and speed.

The main armament, consisting of twelve 6in. guns, is mounted in four 3-gun turrets on the centre line, two turrets being on the fore-castle, and two astern the mainmast. There is a massive bridge structure surmounted by the fire-control director for the main armament. All the guns of the main armament are capable of being elevated to the vertical, so that they can be used against aircraft if necessary.

The bridge structure merges at its after end into the aircraft hangars. There are two of these, one on each side of the foremast, and each designed to accommodate one machine. Immediately astern the hangars are the cranes for hoisting in aircraft, and an aircraft catapult of a new type from which the planes are launched. It is understood that these ships will carry three Walrus amphibians, one being stowed on the catapult.

Immediately astern the after funnels are the torpedo tubes, mounted on the upper deck. There are four 21-inch tubes on each side. Above these tubes is the main anti-aircraft armament, consisting of four pairs of 4-inch anti-aircraft guns. The twin mounting for 4-inch anti-aircraft guns is a new development.

ARMOUR BELT

On each side of the foremast funnel, and mounted on top of the hangars so that an excellent arc of fire is obtained, is a multi-barrelled anti-aircraft pom-pom.

LINER AGROUND

Cairo, April 10.

The 20,000 ton P. and O. s.s. Viceroy of India grounded 65 miles from Port Said to-day. A portion of the cargo is being taken off in order to lighten the ship. Another P. and O. liner which was following the Viceroy of India was also held up. The liner was re-floated later in the evening.—Reuter.

It will be seen, therefore, that the anti-aircraft defence of these new ships is more than twice that of any cruiser yet built for the British Navy.

Their main protection consists of a belt of armour plate on the side stretching over the whole length occupied by the engines and boiler rooms. Abreast the boiler-rooms this belt is brought up to the level of the upper deck, but otherwise it extends only as far as the main deck. The lower edge of the belt is below the water line. The average thickness is four inches.

Deck armour is fitted on the main deck and extends from the forward side of the foremost bar-bette to the stern.

The eight boilers and geared turbines give the ships a speed of more than 32 knots with a horse power of 75,000. Approximately 2,000 tons of oil fuel are carried, giving a steaming radius at economical speed of over 5,000 miles.

Apart from H.M.S. Newcastle and H.M.S. Southampton, six more ships of this class and two ships of a similar class are under construction.

"DISFIGURING HONG KONG"

"INCONGRUOUS" AND "IMPOTENT"

(The Editor, "The Hong Kong Daily Press")

Sir,—You have hit the nail on the head when you state in your excellent leading article that, for the most part, Hong Kong hoardings are incongruous and, from the advertising standpoint, impotent. Very good. Now, what justification is there for them in such vast numbers?

The Colonial Secretary suggests, as published in your paper on Saturday, that if the public kicked-up enough fuss, then Government might appoint a small committee to investigate the matter.

How constructive!

I think the great bulk of the hoardings are absolutely worthless and definitely unsightly. As I am an agent for a certain line who has been inveigled into taking a hoarding contract against my better judgment, I shall not unmask myself. But I shall not "slip" again.

Yours, etc.,

"UNPARDONABLE LATITUDE"

(The Editor, "The Hong Kong Daily Press")

Dear Sir,—Bless you for being a controversialist with a constructive outlook!

I have long wondered why Government—so restricting in other things—allows such unpardonable latitude by permitting the landscape to be littered with such artistic atrocities as glare and shriek at us from these hoardings.

Maybe nothing will be done about it, for, let me say quite frankly, we are such a smug and conservative community, that nothing short of a plague or an earthquake would move us. However, you have, as you did so splendidly with the dreadful dysentery scourge and the beggar nuisance, registered a vigorous protest, and, although merely one of the "hol polloi," I tender you my sincere thanks and congratulations.

Yours faithfully,

"HOL POLLOI"

ROBBER RAID IN PING SHAN

An armed robbery took place at the Kung Hing Lime Kiln, Ping Shan, at 11 p.m. last Friday when three men broke open the door of the dwelling and gagged the inmates, a 71-year-old married woman, Mong Tseng, and her fook. Mong was threatened with a firearm. After a thorough search, they left with clothing, and money amounting to about $47.

YOUTH'S DIVERSION ENDS IN FALL

Yuen Sau, aged 11, was sent to the Kowloon Hospital for injuries sustained while falling off a bus No. 783, on Saturday morning. The accident was reported to the police by Li Wong, driver of the Kowloon Motor Bus Co. He stated that Yuen was jumping up and down the steps at the entrance of the bus, and had fallen off to the road when he missed his footing.

Gentlemen,—I was overjoyed to learn of the return of His Excellency Dr. Tamagnini Barbosa to be Governor of Macao and when I learned of the happy news I wondered how I could best celebrate it. Having for the last thirty years spent my week-ends in Macao, I consider myself an old resident and would, therefore, like to identify myself with its inhabitants. In order to show them, especially the needy section of them, I wanted to make a donation of $10,000 for the relief of the poor in Macao. But not knowing how best to distribute this sum, I thought the ideal way would be to leave it in the able hands of His Excellency the Governor. Hence I can both celebrate the return of His Excellency to this part of the world and benefit the poor in a colony which His Excellency has so ably administered. I am grateful to His Excellency for accepting this humble tribute to a great Governor and a humble offering to the poor.

In conclusion, may I express the fervent hope that His Excellency will have an outstandingly successful term of office and that both he and his family will be blessed with every bliss and happiness. (Applause.)

This terminated the proceedings.
